

Ref: 10/15 MKT
To: Sales Organisation
From: Marketing Department
Date: 08/07/2015

PRODUCT DISCONTINUATION

A225-7

Automatic level switch

- Following a rationalization process aiming to obtain a greater standardization and to further improve the service level, effective immediately the A225-7 automatic level switch will no longer be available.
- The A225-10 automatic level switch, which represents a direct alternative (that is a directly interchangeable model) will continue to be available. This model differs in that the rod of the floating ball is fitted into an AISI 304 tube instead of brass.

- Questions and / or clarifications should be directed to your usual contact point.
- The Technical Data Sheets on the www.sirai.com website refer to the products available at the time of consultation.

The present communication has been sent to the sales organisation only. Therefore, please send the information herein contained to the clients of your area of competence.